Online Inductions

Save time and money
By delivering induction materials online, on a worker's first day you can run a shorter site orientation session (which they can book in advance) & they're ready to go!

Put them to the test
Multiple choice assessments can be used as part of the online induction to ensure workers fully understand your company and site rules.

Record of Induction
Check workers have completed their online induction, & view proof of completion in our MSite platform. Evidence of completion is stored on their MSite profile.

MSite Online Inductions is a great way to share your site's safety compliance and operating procedures with new starters online before their first day. You can also upload company inductions and role specific ones too.

Control your own content
Customise your content and upload your own materials – this can be done centrally via Head Office and by the site team.

Access denied
Automatically block site access if team members haven't completed the online training or have invalid accreditations.

Version control
Version control is in place and you will have a record of which worker completed which version.

Site orientation booking
Workers can also pre-book a slot for their site orientation, so you will know how many workers to expect at each session.
